Value of a business model

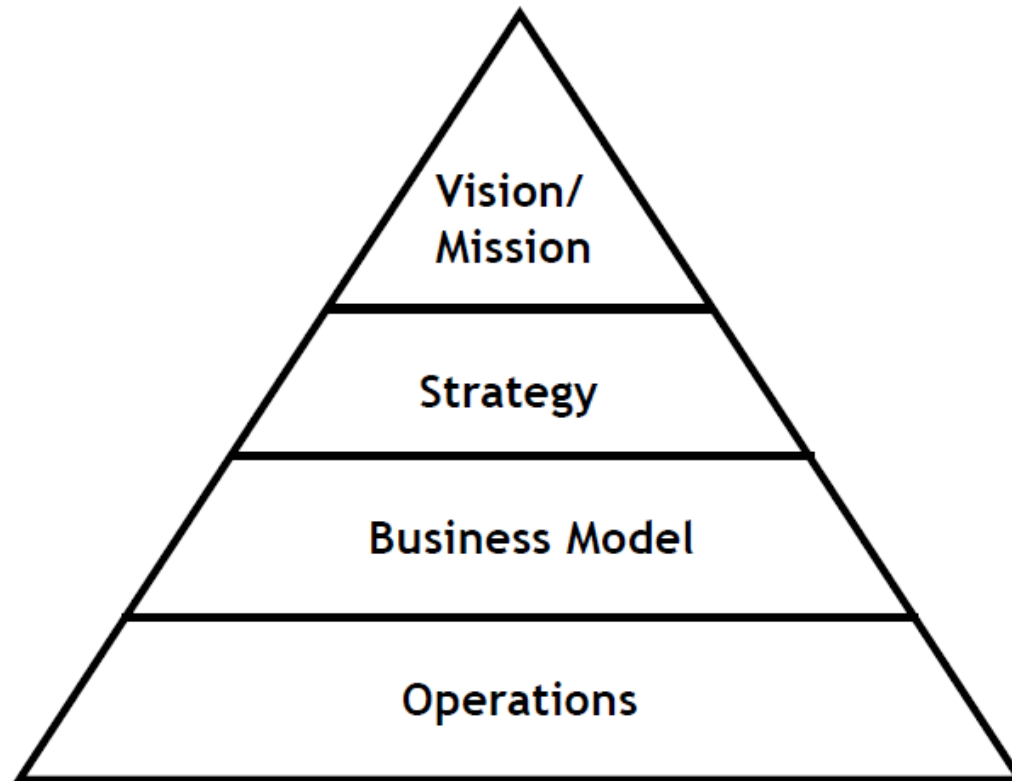

A business model canvas can be seen as a common language and framework i.e. a codification scheme that allows for meaningful communication.

A business model also serves as a tool to align stakeholders in a common process. As all building blocks are interrelated, a change in one building block automatically leads to a change in the other parts of the framework

Last but not least, a business model canvas is a conversation starter to allow for analysis on a deeper level within or between building blocks.
